Dear Christin,

We, the research group on crime control and security law (CCSL), would like to apply to become a research group on level 2. We are convinced that we are fulfilling all necessary criteria that are mentioned in 4.7 of the Guidelines for research groups at the Faculty of Law, UiT The Arctic University of Norway.

During the last months, the CCSL research groups has developed joint research projects and applied (is applying) for external funding.

Such as:

- Investigation and Prosecution of crimes against eco-systems
- Crime Control and New Technologies (Max Planck Cooperation)
- Proportionality
- FiskeKrim

In addition to our individual research activity, our members of the research group are collaborating regularly in the research group's subject area, which was wonderfully demonstrated in the participation on the CCCL-Max Planck Event on Crime Control and New Technologies in which a plurality of members were involved and presented their work. During those presentation it became obvious that those projects are linked within a bigger interdisciplinary research design of the CCSL research group. Additionally, the CCSL research group has strong collaborations and a robust network also with researchers and institutions outside the faculty. This is demonstrated by collaborations with the Max Planck Society, University of Oxford, Queen Mary University of London, University of Liverpool as well as UIB and UIO.

Out of all those above-mentioned reasons we deeply hope that we fulfill the requirements to become a research group on level 2.

Best
Nandor
